Limerick Airport Limerick Airport is an airport in County Limerick, Ireland. As of early 2019, the Limerick Airport is home to Monsoon Aviation, flying out and back from Ryanair hubs from Speke airport in Liverpool and Stansted Airport in London. The airport is also home to the "Limerick City Flying Club", a well-established flying club with over 200 students and has also served to stage the "Limerick Gliding Rally" which is held every Easter Weekend. The airport is spread over an area of and has two runways, one 15/33 and one 09/27. It is approximately two hours' drive from Dublin. History The first flight in the area was in 1917, when a 29 hp Avro 504 was used on an attempt to fly around the world. In 1976, the then owner, Limerick Airport Ltd, organised the first Limerick Flying Club and this successfully culminated in a membership of over 140 students in 1980. In the following five years, the club's activity increased significantly, culminating in the formation of the International Limerick Flying Club. Facilities The airport is situated in the townland of Glangevlin, two miles from the centre of Limerick. The control tower was built in 1984, and the runway and terminal were completed in 1988. There are a number of business hangars within the airport. With the realisation that it was impossible to continue to operate the business, the Limerick City Flying Club was dissolved in March 1998 and the new owner, Gene Gulliver commenced the relocation of the airport to a site 1.5 miles north of the historic centre. Work has now been completed to re-open the airport, this time at the site on the outskirts of Killaloe. This new airport has a single runway, which is
